The Crown Conveyors Aqualine range is the perfect fit for the rigorous demands of the modern food industry.

Quality engineered from stainless steel and polyethelene to withstand aggressive cleaning regimes, it is tailor made for high risk food applications.

This mid-weight range of free standing, waterproof conveyors also provides total flexibility.

You specify the length, belt width, height and speed, give us the product details and rates and we'll deliver a custom conveyor assembled for your operation.

The range's flexibility also extends to our customers products and handling styles.

The conveyors are equally at home with filling, topping, depositing, ready-meal assembly, sorting, counting and rotating, as well, of course, as transporting product within your facility.

Additional options which include a euro socket for ancillary equipment also makes this conveyor ideal for coding and labelling applications and we can offer variable speed and indexing options to suit your particular production requirements.

Don't underestimate the sheer quality of the Aqualine range.

Built to last and deliver many years of fault free service. It also has a quality energy efficient motor operating well within it's capacity.

All this at a highly affordable price from a proven manufacturer with a twenty year track record.
